Director Announces Final Acting Try-outs For Varsity Production

Ken McGinn, director of the varsity show, has announced that final acting try-outs will be held after the Christmas vacation.

"Although it was my original intention to have the try-outs and cast the show before classes ended," McGinn declared, "recent developments have made it inconvenient to hold auditions this week. I shall send cards," he continued, "to the people who are under consideration for speaking roles in the show as soon as I arrange a date for the try-outs."

Dick Beatty, music director, and choreographer Jean Cutler held their respective departmental try-outs last Saturday. After McGinn's auditions the show will be cast and rehearsals will commence in February.

Members of the Backdrop Club heard what had been accomplished by the executive committee and future plans for the production at a special meeting on Thursday.

Agents To Distribute Special Train Tickets

Representatives of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway will be located on the second floor of the Wren Building, tomorrow and Thursday, Dec. 17 and 18, for the purpose of selling tickets for the William and Mary Special and other trains.

The special train will leave Williamsburg on Saturday, Dec. 20, at 1 p. m. and will arrive at Richmond at 2 p. m. and at Washington, D. C., at 5:20 p. m.

On the return trip, special coaches will be provided for students on trains leaving Richmond at 1:35 and 7 p. m. on Sunday, Jan. 4.

Choir, Chorus And Singers To Take Part In 'Messiah'

Production Scheduled For 8 p.m. Tonight And Tomorrow In Phi Beta

Approximately 150 members of the William and Mary choir, singers and chorus will take part in the presentation of Handel's Messiah tonight and tomorrow at 8 o'clock in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

All the choral groups will participate in this production which will include solos by sopranos Ann Dunn and Mary Ellen Bovie, altos Virginia Northcott and Carol Gardner, basses Warren Sprouse and Walter Williams, and tenor Edward Hudgins.

Frances O. Robinson, instructor in fine arts, will play the organ, and Mrs. Alan C. Stewart will provide the piano accompaniment. The design for the stage set was made by Fred Allen, under the direction of Roger Sherman, instructor in fine arts. Albert Haak, instructor in fine arts, is in charge of the technical direction, and Albert Tappe will manage the lighting effects.

"Tickets, which are free, may be obtained from members of the choral organizations," stated Carl A. Fehr, assistant professor of fine arts, under whose direction the group will sing, "but no one will be admitted without a ticket." Mr. Fehr added that the production will start on time and that no one will be admitted after the procession has started.

Has Anyone Seen An Old Yule Log?

Over The Campus Hangs A Pall, Nobody Seems To Care At All; Students Have Their Usual Luck, Everybody Has Passed The Buck

By Jody Felix and Bill Greer

To the eager, wide-eyed children, bounding out of bed at the crack of dawn on Christmas day, the Yuletide season will have lost none of its magical charms, but, at William and Mary, Christmas just won't be the same.

True, there will be the usual end-of-classes celebrations, Mr. Fehr's choral groups will present their annual Christmas concerts, and the fraternities will serenade the campus with the old, familiar Christmas carols. Still, something will be lacking.

William and Mary is losing one of its finest traditions, the Yule Log Ceremony, which has officially ushered in the Yuletide season for 10, these many years.

Reporter Sallies Forth

Full of good intentions, the FLAT HAT sent one of its loyal staff members in search of how-why-where-and-when information on the Yule Log celebration. Dr. Grace Warren Landrum, under whose able direction the program formerly was presented, had retired. Glancing at a list of faculty members, our conscientious reporter chose to interview the most logical candidate, the chairman of the committee on special events, Dr. A. Pelzer Wagener.

The reporter then fared forth eagerly on her quest, a quest which was destined to develop into an itinerary comparable to the wanderings of Aeneas. Bounding light-heartedly up the stairs to the third floor of Washington, she was greeted with the news that said chairman knew nothing whatsoever about the plans for the celebration.

Nothing daunted, our brave reporter retraced her steps across the Sunken Gardens to Marshall-Wythe, where all the wheels in the William and Mary machinery revolve.

The registrar, with admirable logic, directed the reporter to the office of Dean Landrum's successor, Dr. Katharine Jeffers. Here the reporter was informed by a secretary that, if anyone knew anything about the elusive Yule Log, it would be Dr. Umbeck.

Why, He Just Left

Growing a trifle apprehensive when she learned that the dean had departed for Roanoke, the reporter, with remarkable perseverance and energy, decided to visit Dean Lambert, who lost little time in directing her back across the Sunken Gardens to Barrett Hall.

At this point, the worst fears of the reporter were finally realized. There was no Yule Log Ceremony scheduled on the College Calendar.

Tearfully, members of the FLAT HAT staff have placed a lighted candle in the window of the Publications Office, hoping against hope to guide their fellow journalist homeward. There is little possibility of her return, however, for when last seen, she was wandering towards Great Hall with a bucket of gasoline in hand, muttering insanely to herself about having a Yule Log Ceremony all her own.

Alumni Chapter Will Hold Annual Christmas Dance

A dance, sponsored by members of the Philadelphia chapter of the Alumni association, will be given in the Mirage room of the Hotel Barclay in Philadelphia, Pa., on Saturday, Dec. 27, at 9 p. m.

"We are trying to make this an annual dance for the students," stated Dr. George P. Glauner, president of the Philadelphia chapter. Admission to the formal event is $3.00.

Students who will be in the Philadelphia area during the Christmas recess and who plan to attend the dance may write Dr. Glauner at the Mermont, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Airlines Will Run Bus To Richmond Airport

Capital Airlines will run a special bus to Byrd Airport in Richmond which will leave Williamsburg at 2:30 p. m. on Saturday, Dec. 20.

All students possessing reservations on Capital or Eastern Airlines afternoon planes will be accommodated on this special bus. Students wishing to ride to Byrd Airport on the bus may contact John E. Hocutt, dean of men, at his office on the first floor of Marshall-Wythe Hall.

Freshmen Will Sponsor Dixie Bowl Pep Rally

A pep rally for the Dixie Bowl game, sponsored by the freshman class, will be held Thursday at 10 p. m. at the west side of the Wren Building. Each fraternity and dormitory has been given a special task to perform for the rally.

Weekly Radio Feature Will Present Activities At William And Mary

William and Mary will be saluted from coast to coast on Jan. 2 when the United States Army and the Mutual Broadcasting System will present the radio feature, "Campus Salute," a weekly series which pays tribute to the colleges and universities of America.

The program, which will be aired at 12:30 p. m. (E.S.T.), will touch on all phases of campus life at William and Mary, and will feature the Alma Mater, the Hymn, and the favorite fight songs. Material for the broadcast was prepared by Ronald King, a member of the college's public relations staff.

The broadcast will originate from the studios of Station WOL in Washington, and may be heard on all Mutual and affiliated stations.

Choir Concert

Tonight and tomorrow the William and Mary Choir will present Messiah in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

Because of an administration policy the choir is unable to charge admission for the event. It is regrettable that the choir cannot charge admission, since demand for the "gratis" tickets has been high, and we are sure the demand would be just as high if money were charged. If policy could be overlooked, a deserving, struggling organization could get "off the floor" and operate on a more comfortable financial basis. We believe the hard-working choir is deserving of support both financial and otherwise, by the college community.

Mr. Fehr and his well-known organization will have to rely solely on the generosity of the audience. Christmas is a time to give, and we hope the audience remembers this fact, since an opportunity will be given to contribute to the choir so that it may carry on its work.

Despite the fact that the Student Activities Fee committee appropriated $1,000 toward the purchase of new robes for the choir, the organization badly needs financial help so that it may continue to offer fine entertainment and culture to the students and faculty of The College of William and Mary.

Does Scrooge Live Again?

Last night one of the fraternities on campus held a Christmas serenade for the women's dormitories and the sorority houses. This serenade lasted from 10 to 11:45 p. m.

Every fraternity on campus has the permission of the assistant dean of women to give serenades until midnight, and yet last night at the conclusion of the particular function the fraternity was reprimanded by the dean of men, who was entirely ignorant of these rules and who was very definite in telling members of the organization that they were very much in the wrong for conducting a serenade until 11:45 p. m. We suggest that the dean of men be more acquainted with the regulations governing such functions before he "lets go" with his accusations.

The organization had borrowed a jeep in which to carry around a "Santa Claus." The fraternity knew permission had not been granted for its use. Granted, the fraternity was in the wrong for using the jeep, but it was appropriated for the sole purpose of creating a little good will, and we see absolutely no crime in trying to carry out that idea. The dean made the statement that even if the organization had seen him before the serenade, permission would not have been granted to use the vehicle. No harm was intended; and even though the dean has to carry out his duties, there are exceptions to every rule.

Guest-Columnist Reminds Students You Don't Have To Stay Here

By Richard C. Plumer

From time to time there have appeared in the FLAT HAT wails its critics it is because the student government is incapable of such and moans from students in varying degrees of distress. The authors of these unhappy remarks direct their discontent in many channels. But the majority of the attacks seems pointed at the college administration and the student government. Why, it is asked, does the administration treat us as if we were children? And why doesn't the student government do something?

The answer to the first question is easy. We are treated as children because in a great many ways we behave as children, and singularly ill-bred children at that. We abuse privileges. We destroy the intellectual confidence which the faculty places in us with ill-concealed attempts to gain a grade without exposing ourselves to the danger of learning anything.

We look to the administration to provide us with a varied program of recreation and entertainment without requiring of the students any real effort in the planning or the executing of this provision. If the College treats us as if we were immature it is because they have ample evidence of immaturity in our everyday conduct.

The answer to the second question is also readily obtainable. It is closely allied to the answer of the first. If the student government doesn't accomplish results which are obvious enough to stop

Last week the FLAT HAT published a letter from one Bud Bridges. Mr. Bridges bemoaned the fact that important issues were beyond the control of student government. Of course they are. But this is not essentially the fault of the student government.

The editor's note which commented on Mr. Bridges' letter answered its author fairly well in his own vein. Student government is impotent because it has no active support. It is necessary for the administration to govern by edict. Students may dislike this. They may on occasion rant against it. But they consistently show themselves unwilling or unable to provide any alternative.

Some remedy for this frustrating condition might be found in a drastic revision of the student government structure eliminating the appalling committee hierarchy and such non-functioning divisions as the hapless Interclub Council. Certainly little concerted action can be expected of an organization impeded by the dead weight of useless parts consistently disregarded.

But the only remedy which will last is a change in attitude on the part of the student body. Until we grow out of our grammar-school attitude, we must be content with administration paternalism. Heaven help us should it be removed before this growth.

King, Influenced By Santa Claus, Repents

William And Mary-Go-Round

For the past 13 weeks I have been a cad. There are some who will claim that I underestimate the time; but what I mean is that in 13 weekly columns I have been vicious in my attacks on the various campus elements. I have knocked everything but the co-eds' knees, and God has anticipated me there.

My conscience has been throttling me, and I have no antipathy for my landlady, Rube's rugby squad, sororities, the infirmary, or even the University of Virginia. It's just that Alfred Nobel was right when he said, "De mortibus nil nisi bonum" ("It is much easier to destroy than to construct").

But with Christmas in the air, I cannot bring myself to write scathing remarks. There are so many good things, so many good people on campus. These must be recognized. And so, in this last column before Christmas, I want to extend gifts and greetings to the worthy and deserving.

First on my list is Dr. John E. Pomfret, president of the College, who so graciously pleaded my insanity when I was hailed before the Board of Visitors for suggesting that Virginia students be barred completely from attending the College of William and Mary.

A cigar and an expression of gratitude to Dean Lambert for taking his valuable time to testify as to my character in that nasty paternity suit in Rappahannock.

Thanks, Dean Hocutt, for being so nice about that fourteenth cut in Home Ec.

Bouquets to Mr. Kent, steward of the dining hall, and to his staff for the wonderful meals I have had at the Greeks.

To the cashiers in the dining hall, I give a threshing machine and a vote of thanks for making my caf book so much lighter to carry.

Yuletide tidings to Editor Bud Jones for his fearless editorials exposing the white slave syndicate on campus.

Journalist Lb. Moore merits a word, and I believe that word is on page 164 of Studs Lonigan. Best wishes, and a reinforced cudgel to you, Lb.

My sincere thanks to Max Schulman and S. J. Perelman for you know what. Also to the New Home Library for their handy volume, 2500 Jokes for All Occasions.

A writ of habeas corpus and an estate in fee simple to Dr. Woodbridge, who has succeeded in convincing me that a verbal contract is not worth the paper it's written on.

My roommate, George Sheehan, deserves mention. George, as you know, is the lad who sells sandwiches and who has a girl with whom I am desperately in love. I'm just waiting for Sheehan's hairline to recede two more inches before I make my first move.

Greetings To Fantail

Season's greetings to Fanny Fantail and to the promising young artist who affixed the spectacles and moustache to my portrait. Incidentally, I have learned that the talented person was only recently paroled on a pornography rap.

Mustn't forget Wilford Leach, the lad who protested in a letter to the editor about my picture. Mr. Leach is, currently on tour with the Society for the Establishment of Mercy Killing as a case in point.

Compliments of the season to Miss Wynne-Roberts for listing my bicycle as a bona fide registered vehicle. Sophomore, junior and senior girls please note.

Orchids to the management of the Williamsburg Theatre for bringing "Spirit of West Point" to the local screen. Y'know, the Army gave Davis and Blanchard a special 90-day furlough to make the picture. Frankly, I would have been just as happy if they had spent the time skeet-shooting in the Adirondacks.

The W&M Version

Incidentally, I hear that right after graduation Sazio, Ramsey and Steckroth are heading for Hollywood to do a little opus entitled "Spirit of Matoaka." In the picture Ralph, Knox and Bob are Fuller brush salesmen. They knock on a door, bash it down when there is no immediate answer. Coach Rube McCray comes out, looks at the trio, gets a great idea . . . "And so was born the nucleus of the great Big Green forward wall . . ."

Holiday felicitations to the Bray twins. After Christmas you'll be able to tell them apart. Ben is having his laundry done at home from now on. Jim will continue to use the College facilities. The one wearing the shirt with the buttons and collar intact will be —well, it'll be easy, I assure you.

Wonderful Housemothers

Many thanks to all the wonderful housemothers for letting me share your table the night the Powhatan was so crowded.

A sack of good cheer to the members of the Royalist staff who recently rejected my latest contribution. It was a great short story, which I called The Cask of Amontillado. They said it wasn't good enough for the Royalist. Well, the joke is certainly on them!

There are hundreds of others to whom I would like to extend the season's greetings; but this list must suffice.

Seriously, a veddy Meddy Christmas to you all, and a Happy New Year to those of you who survive the egg-nog parties.

Write a word of advice. Don't write any term papers or take any books home on vacation. Just rack up the academics and have a good time. With the reading period and a few shots of benzadrine, you'll pull through. If not, there's always next year. Have fun!

Words From The Managing Ed.

By Ed Griffin

Many and various are the sins which have been ascribed to The FLAT HAT but at no time during its 37 years of publication has it been accused of overemphasizing the things of the spirit. Since another Christmas has almost arrived and the majority of people will be giving some attention to religion for the second time this year, perhaps it might be worthwhile to consider a few verses from the King James version of the Bible. The following passages are to be found among the Rhapsodies of the Unknown Prophet:

"Behold my servant shall deal prudently,
 He shall be exalted and extolled, and be very high.
 As many were astonished at thee;
 His visage was so marred more than any man,
 And his form more than the sons of men:
 So shall he sprinkle many nations;
 The kings shall shut their mouths at him:
 For that which had not been told them shall they see;
 And that which they had not heard shall they consider.

"Who hath believed our report?
 And to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?
 For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant,
 And as a root out of a dry ground:
 He hath no form nor comeliness;
 And when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should despise him.

He is despised and rejected of men;
 A man of sorrows and acquainted with grief:
 And we hid as it were our faces from him;
 He was despised and we esteemed him not.

"Surely he hath borne our griefs,
 And carried our sorrows:
 Yet we did esteem him stricken,
 Smitten of God, and afflicted.
 And he was wounded for our transgressions,
 He was bruised for our iniquities:
 The chastisement of our peace was upon him;
 And with his stripes we are healed.
 All we like sheep have gone astray;
 We have turned every one to his own way;
 And the Lord hath laid on him
 The iniquity of us all.

"He was oppressed, and he was afflicted,
 Yet he opened not his mouth:
 He is brought as a lamb to the slaughter,
 And as a sheep before her shearers is dumb,
 So he openeth not his mouth.
 He was taken from prison and from judgment:
 And who shall declare his generation?
 For he was cut off out of the land of the living:
 For the transgression of my people was he stricken.
 And he made his grave with the wicked,
 And with the rich in his death;
 Because he had done no violence,
 Neither was any deceit in his mouth.

"Yet it pleased the Lord to bruise him;
 He hath put him to grief:
 When thou shalt make his soul an offering for sin,
 The pleasure of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.
 He shall see of the travail of his soul, and shall be satisfied:
 By his knowledge shall my righteous servant justify many;
 For he shall bear their iniquities.
 Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great,
 And he shall divide the spoil with the strong;
 Because he hath poured out his soul unto death:
 And he was numbered with the transgressors;
 And he bore the sin of many,
 And made intercession for the transgressors."

Perhaps the most crystal-clear statement of how to follow the teachings of this man is that which is expressed in the beautiful and compelling words of Micah:

"He hath showed thee, O man, what is good;
 And what doth the Lord require of thee,
 But to do justly, and to love mercy,
 And to walk humbly with thy God?"

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

Mr. Arthur P. Thompson recently has kicked up quite a stir over the subject of world federation, and a quantity of mud has been flung on both sides, quite unnecessarily, it seems to me.

Both sides in their zeal seem to overlook the real core of truth in the matter. When Arthur P. Thompson says somewhat snidely that the federalist plans work perfectly—on paper, he is right. When the Federalists in turn drag out all kinds of splendid arguments to show that federalism is necessary, they too are right. What the crusading Federalists forget, however, is that any change in the ways and thinking of mankind stems not from the reasoning of a clever few, but from forces entirely beyond man's control, to which man must adapt himself. Arthur P. Thompson is forgetting that although the clever cannot change the ways of humanity, they can always predict the changes that come. For just as surely as a falling barometer indicates a storm but does not cause the storm, so have intellectual movements always predicted by their direction the great changes of the future.

The conversion of the Roman Empire, the French Revolution, the Communist rise, were all reasoned and argued for long before the events, through the force of uncontrollable conditions, took place.

Mr. Thompson, therefore, is barking up the wrong tree when he mocks the federalist efforts. The Federalists are barking up the right tree—they see the cat, but it will take more than them to get it down. When the cat descends, Mr. Thompson will be forced to join the Federalists, who will take the credit for forcing it down.

Meanwhile Mr. Thompson is being useful in stirring the Federalists to greater activity, which will help to condition us to future events.

Sincerely,
Charles Hull.

To the Editor:

Imagine my chagrin on searching in vain through this week's FLAT HAT for some article, some letter, anything, in defense of Ronnie King. In a previous issue there appeared two vicious and uncalled for attacks on Mr. King, one of William and Mary's leading citizens and certainly The FLAT HAT's leading columnist.

In a letter to the editor, Wilford Leach, whoever he may be, wasted his time and ours in making cracks at a face that would grace any Calvert advertisement. On another page, Fanny Fantail had penned a supposedly clever interview with Donald Ring. It was obvious to the careful reader that she actually had Mr. King in mind.

The unfairness of these attacks is obvious. Mr. King's accomplishments are too well known for me to mention them here. For instance, he appeared in one of the college plays in 1938. He helped out on the Varsity show last year, and I know for a fact that he passed biology without even trying.

There's no need to go further. Your guilt is both obvious and shocking. If a college paper is allowed to print such highly imaginative libel about the college's foremost men-about-campus, then it deserves to be burnt with glee by every student. I certainly intend to do my part in the future. From now on, where there's smoke you can bet there will be me, defending the good name of our students.

With malice toward every last one of you,

Walter Sheppe.

Editor's Note:

The FLAT HAT is deeply grateful for its careful readers.

Business Forum Speaker Tittsworth Compares Accountant With Doctor

"Accounting is neither dull nor an exact science," W. B. Tittsworth told the second session of the Business Forum, assembled in Barrett living room last Thursday.

W. B. Tittsworth

Tittsworth, of the Baltimore office of Haskins and Sells, accounting firm, spoke before the forum's joint meeting with the Accounting Club. He warned that accounting is not a soft job, and that the average accountant never gets rich. The speaker also warned that accountants must move from place to place frequently, and that their hours are irregular. He likened accountants to doctors, in that they are always at the service of their clients, day and night.

Distinction And Compensation

Professional distinction and compensation of accountants are comparable to those of lawyers and doctors, Tittsworth declared. He stated that beginning salaries in accounting now generally range from $2,200 to $2,500 per year. A "staff man" in a large accounting firm can expect from $7,500 to $10,000, while the annual income of partners or "principals" will ordinarily range from $10,000 to $50,000, according to the speaker.

Both personal and technical qualifications of a young man entering the field of accounting were discussed by the accountant. He listed such personal qualities as high moral character, imagination, perseverance, self-assurance, the ability to speak and write effectively, and a compatible personality. Tittsworth declared that the ability to get along with people, and to attract and retain clients, is probably the most important personal characteristic.

College Best For Background

College was described as the best place to get a background for accounting. The speaker declared that a broad education is extremely important. Tittsworth suggested a number of specialized fields of education, including the following: economics, law, English, cost accounting, auditing, and other special types of accounting.

Audrey Fajans, president of the Accounting Club, announced that its next meeting will be held Thursday, Jan. 8. Vernon L. Nunn, Auditor, will describe the college bookkeeping and accounting system. Dr. Charles F. Marsh, director of the Business Forum, announced that its next session will be held in February.

AA Members Speak At YWCA Meeting

Thomas Loverne, Henry Chittle, and Edward Mason were the three representatives of Alcoholics Anonymous who spoke on the program sponsored by the YWCA last Wednesday.

Each one stressed the importance of this organization and how their 12 commandments had aided them to develop a new philosophy of life. "One drink leads to alcoholism for those who are afflicted with this illness," stated Mason.

Edgar Allen Marshall, secretary of AA at Eastern State Hospital, also was a guest speaker.

Railroads To Offer New Student Rate

A new "College Special" round-trip fare plan will go into effect on Thursday, Dec. 25, it was announced recently by officials of the Association of American Railroads.

Under the new plan, students may buy round-trip tickets at special rates during the period from Dec. 25 to Jan. 16. By extending the time limit on the use of return-trip tickets, member railroads of the association will permit students to use half the ticket to return to school after the Christmas holidays and the other half to return home for the spring recess or the end of school.

Faculty members may also take advantage of these reduced rates, which will be again in effect during the spring recess and next fall. Other phases of the plan include extended stop-over privileges and free baggage-checking. Complete details of the plan may be obtained from any railroad representative.

Moss Calls Meeting Of Students Planning To Study At Exeter

Students planning to attend the William and Mary Summer Session at Exeter College in England will meet with Dr. W. Warner Moss, head of the government department, on Thursday, Dec. 18, at 4 p. m. in Marshall-Wythe 301.

"It is important that all students planning to attend Exeter this summer notify me immediately," Dr. Moss declared. "The size of the group from William and Mary must be determined before students from other colleges can be invited to participate in the program."

The faculty has voted to allow nine hours credit for the course planned at the Exeter Summer Session. Six of these nine hours may be applied to satisfy distribution credits, and the balance may be applied toward electives. In some cases, departmental chairmen may be willing to credit the course toward concentration.

"The shipping arrangements have not yet been completed, but there is some prospect that the troop ships in operation on the trans-Atlantic run last summer will be available again this year if Congress takes the necessary action," Dr. Moss added.

Religious News

Westminster Fellowship

The Westminster Fellowship will celebrate the coming vacation with a Christmas party on Thursday, Dec. 18, from 7-11 p. m. The group will go caroling and then return to the Presbyterian church for a party with food and a tree.

Students planning to attend should sign the church bulletin board by Wednesday noon and should plan to bring a 15-cent gift.

"We have obtained an 11 p. m. permission for all the women, so everyone come and we'll have a really good Christmas party," said Warren Sprouse, president of the club.

Baptist Student Union

The Baptist Student Center will be open Sunday, Jan. 4, 1948, in the afternoon and evening.

Balfour-Hillel

The Balfour-Hillel Club will hold its regular meeting tonight at 7:30 p. m. in the Baptist Student center. A series of debates is being planned for the evening.

Recent events on the club's calendar included a hayride and Chanukah party held Saturday, Dec. 6, and services in Wren Chapel last Friday evening.

City Will Utilize Only White Lights For Decorations

Following the Christmas traditions of colonial times, Williamsburg will use only white lights in the exterior decorations of its homes and shop windows and on its community Christmas tree, which will be lighted in a special service on Christmas Eve at 6 p. m. on the Market Square Green.

The custom of white lighting for the Christmas season has been followed for many years by the residents here. The program of exterior decorations is supervised by the Williamsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Red Cross Supervises Students' Work At Eastern State

By Leslie Morgan

Under the auspices of the college chapter of the Red Cross, the students from William and Mary are working at Eastern State Hospital. The work was started this fall by a committee headed by Herb Philips, and since Oct. 6, 36 students have contributed a total of 408 hours.

The students work in connection with the occupational therapy department under Miss Florence Clemens. Six have taken a course to familiarize themselves with the hospital routine and how to deal with patients. They act as leaders, but volunteers are accompanied by a nurse at all times.

Herb explained that the volunteers help to provide entertainment and constructive recreation for the patients. Some of the things they do are: lead games, act as movie and walk escorts, decorate for parties, supervise woodwork, weaving, and knitting and help in the mail room. Stressing that a personal interest in people was necessary, Herb added, "One must accept things as they are and treat the patients as normal human beings."

The aim is to keep the patients occupied with simple projects and help them to regain interest in normal activities. Members of the unit hope to organize dancing classes, card games, student concerts and group sings at the hospital, thus broadening the scope of the present program.

Herb added that although there are quite a few volunteers now, more would be appreciated. He concluded, "Many people who have not thought much about this work would be interested, and surprised, if they became familiar with the hospital and its patients."

Dramatic Club Holds Party In Wren Kitchen

Two one-act plays, staged by student directors, were presented tonight in the Wren Kitchen at the annual Christmas party of the Dramatic Club.

Mary McCarthy, a member of Miss Althea Hunt's class in directing, offered Alice Brown's Joint Owners in Spain, a merry comedy about four strange little ladies. Bowling Conner appeared as Mrs. Blair, Marianna Merner as Miss Dyer, Chris Jones portrayed Mrs. Mitchell, and Anne Cook had the role of Mrs. Fullerton.

Helena's Husband, Phillip Moeller's comic version of the Helen of Troy story, was presented as the directorial achievement of Wilford Leach. Richard Uviller played Menelaus, the part of Analytikos was done by Fred Eckert, Marianna Brose was Helena, Wilbert Keys read the Prologue, Bill Roberts portrayed Paris, and Tsumu was played by Peggy Benedum.

Following the presentation of the plays, the members of the club gathered about the fire to sing carols and other Christmas songs, and to hear president Joe Buchanan read selections from Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol, a traditional ceremony at the annual Christmas party.

Santa Claus
North Pole
Dear Santa,

Well, I've been at William and Mary for eight years now, and I must say you've been very good to me every year. Who could ask for anything better on Christmas morning, or any other morning, than little helpers like Knox Ramsey, Billy Saffo, Ralph Sazio and Bobby Steckroth in the line and Stanley Magdziak to play with the football you left me.

Please bring me some youngsters to fill the shoes left empty by the graduation of these players, and throw in a few replacements, if you will. I don't want to ask too much, but our opponents will be a lot stronger next year, you know, and without some help we might lose five or six games.

Thank you for the Southern Conference championship, and I do hope Carl Snaveley wasn't too sad because he couldn't have one, too. But after all, he has Justice, and you've done enough for him for two years, anyway. I was just a trifle put out because you made the State championship pennant in duplicate. . . people will begin to doubt your integrity. And if you'll just remember about three touchdowns against Arkansas for New Year's afternoon, everything will be fine. Don't bother about the extra points; Stan will take care of them.

I've been a good boy all year and have been kind to all the William and Mary athletes you have left me during the past few years, so I hope you'll be able to help me out on the few minor points I have brought out.

Also, please bring Pappy Gooch 10,000 portable seats for use at the bigger games to be played in Williamsburg, and perhaps you could put in his stocking a new ice bag and some headache powders to help him sell the additional tickets. Then too, you might explain to the fans that not all of the 16,000 Cary Stadium seats are on the 50-yard line.

Thank you, Santa, and please don't forget all the poor children in Richmond, Charlottesville, Lexington and Blacksburg. If nothing else, leave a few crying towels around for us at the other schools.

Your little man,
Rubie McCray.

Letter From Others

Dear Santa,

To get right to the point, we all want the same thing, and it's this: hitch up your sleigh and reindeer tomorrow, go down to Williamsburg about 3:30 in the afternoon and circle the football field slowly. Then bring us one just like everything you see.

We're all a little bitter about how the victories you brought us last year were all used up long before the season was over. Here's your chance to make good.

Love,
Artie Guepe

Voyles Leaves Auburn

The contract of Carl Voyles was bought up by authorities at Auburn last week for an estimated $22,000 and he was released from it to go his way, a way which undoubtedly will carry him to a coaching job at another major college.

His removal from the head coaching job bears out the rule that football coaches must win games to keep their jobs at almost all schools, especially those where football is a major undertaking. We do not think that his dismissal is a reflection upon his coaching ability.

At Duke University as an assistant to Wallace Wade, Voyles helped in the production of some of the finest grid machines the South has known during the 1930's. One of these teams, the last with which he aided, was the powerful undefeated, untied and unscored on Blue Devil team which lost a heartbreaker in the Rose Bowl.

Coming to William and Mary the following year, he brought with him an able staff of assistants including present Coach Rube McCray and Eric Tipton, great punting star on the 1938 Duke team. That was the fall of 1939, the beginning of the football restoration of Williamsburg and the time of the influx of the widely heralded "Fabulous Freshmen," whose ranks included such really great players as Marvin Bass, Garrard Ramsey, Harvey Johnson, Al Vandeweghe and others. More came the next year.

Never Lost in State

His teams never lost to a Virginia school, nor did they lose many games to any schools. In 1942, the Indians won the first Southern Conference championship in the history of the college, losing but a single game to the pro-laden team of the Preflight unit at the University of North Carolina, and being tied by Harvard.

Taking over at Auburn during the war, Voyles had the usual wartime difficulties, but ever since he has been unable to come through with what could be termed a successful season. Being unfamiliar with the circumstances in Alabama, we are unable to make any comment on the proceedings there, but we still insist that it is unfair to judge a coach solely on the basis of the number of games his team wins.

W&M Sports Publicity

William and Mary as a selection to play in the first annual Dixie Bowl is undoubtedly a wise choice on the part of the bowl committee, which is getting some degree of official representation from the Southern Conference because of the fact that the Indians copped the crown. Other bows would have done well to sign the big, rugged Brave team to a contract, and a number of their bids were received here.

But it was not a one-way proposition. The school passionately desired to send a team to one of the more lucrative and better publicized New Year's day festivals. A United Press wire story described Johnny Cox, director of public relations here, as one of the best lobbyists in the business in the quest for bids to some of the Southern fiestas.

Cox has done an excellent job of getting the amount of recognition which has come to the William and Mary team this fall. His smooth handling of game and feature publicity has been of great aid to the school.

TOMMY KORCZOWSKI, INDIAN BREAKAWAY RUNNER who will see plenty of action in the first annual Dixie Bowl game at Birmingham on Jan. 1, against the University of Arkansas. Out with a broken ankle since the game with Virginia Tech, Tommy is back in shape and eager to go.

Players Meet December 26 At Game Site

William and Mary's Big Green Indians, Southern Conference champions for 1947, tangle with the Razorbacks of the University of Arkansas, an outstanding member of the Southwestern Conference, in the first annual Dixie Bowl game at Birmingham, Ala., on Jan. 1. An expected 38,000 spectators will be on hand for the contest. Arkansas is rated a one-touchdown favorite.

The game will mark the first time in history of the college that a W&M team has participated in a post-season bowl contest. While the 1946 Brave team was extended several invitations, the school did not show any great interest until this year.

Meet At Birmingham

Assembling at Birmingham on Friday, Dec. 26, after spending Christmas at home Coach Rube McCray's Redskins will have almost a week of practice in the southern city before the New Year's battle.

The squad which will make the trip includes 34 players now, with a few more going, perhaps. The squad consists of Bob Steckroth, Lou Hoitsma, Marvin Graham and Vito Ragazzo, ends; Ralph Sazio, Red Caughran, Earl Massey, Lou Creekmur, Moe Kish and Ted Gehlmann, tackles; Knox Ramsey, Bill Saffo, Jim McDowell, George Gibbs, John Kirk, Mike Mikula and Steve Chipok at guards; and Tommy Thompson, George Hughes and Sonny Davis at center.

Also listed are Tom Mikula, Jack Hoey, and Joe Mark, blocking backs; Hank Blanc, Herb Poplinger, Ed Magdziak and Gene Links, wingbacks; Jack Cloud and Pat Haggerty, fullbacks; and Stan Magdziak, Buddy Lex, Tommy Korczowski, Jack Bruce and Don Howren, tailbacks. Managers O. B. Root and George Young will make the trip, too.

In addition, the athletic association has invited the coaches' wives and a FLAT HAT representative to accompany the team as its guests.

Coach Rube McCray, who regards Arkansas very highly, and with plenty of justification for such an attitude, says that the Dixie Bowl offers "great opportunity for William and Mary, and that it is really going to be a big boost for us." He also pointed out that it will be the first venture of a W&M team into the "deep" South, and that it would be a good opportunity for a start in that area.

Although Coach John Barnhill's Razorbacks have dropped four games this season, the defeats have been close, in most cases, and at the hands of strong opposition. Among the teams defeated by the Arkansas eleven were Mississippi, Southeastern Conference champions, and Texas Christian, one of the Southwestern powers. Southern Methodist's great team tripped Arkansas by a scant 14-7 margin.

W&M Has Good Record

William and Mary, on the other hand, will take the field boasting a record of nine victories and a single defeat, which was a 13-7 setback at the hands of the University of North Carolina. The Braves defeated seven Southern Conference rivals, including all four of the Virginia schools they played and Wake Forest, as well as Bowling Green and Boston University in interseasonal games.

Since each team will have had over a month to rest up after their final regularly scheduled games, they will be about as near to top shape as they can get.

Arkansas will be led by Clyde (Smackover) Scott, who played for Navy during the war before returning to Fayetteville to compete for Arkansas. A strong line and a collection of able backs make the Razorbacks an ever-potent group.

It will be the first time since

Larned-Bartzen Ranked 4th In Latest Listings Of USLTA

Bernard (Tut) Bartzen

Gardner Larned and Bernard (Tut) Bartzen, crack doubles team of William and Mary's national championship squad, were awarded the No. 4 spot in rankings released last Sunday by the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

The Indians' summer performances also gained them three places on the singles list. Larned, the intercollegiate titleholder, was rated 16th; Fred Kovaleski, National Public Parks champion, was 22nd, and Bartzen, the Tribe's captain, holds down the No. 25 spot.

Beat Kramer, Schroeder

Most of the credit for the high doubles ranking of Larned and Bartzen goes to their 11-9, 6-3 upset of Jack Kramer and Ted Schroeder in the second round of the Southampton Invitational. In his story for American Lawn Tennis Jack Miller, managing editor of the magazine, spoke of the collegians' "... marvelous team play, unerring overhead work and the tactical skill to exploit the situation to the fullest."

That this victory was no accident was demonstrated by the W&M duo throughout the remainder of the tournament as they whipped Seymour Greenberg and Victor Seixas in the quarterfinals, tripped Frank Guernsey and Pancho Segura in the semis and captured the opening set from Gardner Mulloy and Bill Talbert before bowing in the final round.

National Doubles

Bartzen and Larned outlasted Leonard Steiner and Sidney Schwartz in the opening round of the National Doubles at Brookline and extended the second-seeded team of Mulloy and Frank Parker to four sets in the second.

Kovaleski Takes Shields

Kovaleski turned in a sparkling performance in the Nationals when he rallied to turn back the ex-Davis Cup star, Frank Shields, in a blistering five-set exhibition, 13-11, 4-6, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4. He also trimmed Dennis Slack, of England, and won a set from Tom Brown, Jr., in the third round. He won his Public Parks title with the loss of just four sets and teamed with Gene Russell to annex doubles honors.

Bartzen also reached the third round of the Nationals. He de-

Cavaliers Invade Blow Gym Tonight

Tonight at 8 o'clock the strong University of Virginia basketball five battles William and Mary at Blow Gym in a game between what are expected to be two of the strongest teams in the state this winter.

Coach Barney Wilson's team now has a record of two and two, with half the games on each side of the ledger being played with conference foes. The Big Green will be out for their initial state victory, having lost a one-point decision to Hampden-Sydney last week.

Outstanding men on the Cavalier team coached by Gus Tebell include All-State Guard Chuck Noe, Joe Noertker and Bill Pandak. The Cavaliers won their first two games before losing to George Washington, 55-49. They defeated Duke Saturday night.

The probable lineup for the Braves against the Charlottesville invaders include Bob Holly and Charlie Teach at forwards, long Chester Giermak at center and Charlie Sokol and Fuzz McMillan at the guards.

The last game for the Indians before the Christmas holidays will be against Wake Forest's Deacons in Norfolk Saturday, Dec. 20, at 8 p. m. The game will be played at the City Auditorium there. After the holidays, the Tribe plays Randolph-Macon here on Wednesday, Jan. 7.

Sigma Rho Takes Grid Title; Kitchen, Ted Uhler Honored

Sigma Rho defeated the Flying Vets, winner of the Independent Touch Football league, 13-0 last Friday to annex the school championship.

Striking early in the game, Sigma Rho hung up seven points and was never headed. The first score came on a run by Buck Kitchen, and he passed to Jim Onove for the extra point. Midway in the second half Randy Mallory passed to Pat Massaro and it clicked for a touchdown to give the winners a 13-0 lead.

Seconds later the Flying Vets returned the kickoff 55 yards, but their drive stalled when Mallory intercepted a pass on the Sigma Rho five.

Sigma Rho earned the right to play the Flying Vets by defeating Pi KA, 7-0, while the Independent champions took their final victory from Club 51 by a 20-0 count.

Intramural director Howard Smith has announced the all-star teams, as determined by a vote of the managers of all teams. Buck Kitchen, Sigma Rho, was voted captain and most valuable player of the Fraternity league, while Ted Uhler received the same honors in the other loop.

Fraternity All-Stars

The first team includes Ed Anderson, Sigma Pi, and Ken Schmalenberger, Sigma Rho at ends; Bill Garrison, Pi KA at center; and Buck Kitchen, Sigma Rho, Harry Robison, Pi KA and Dale Clark, SAE in the backfield. On the second team are Doc White, SAE and Bob Galloway, KA at ends; Pat Massaro, Sigma Rho at center; and Jim Ward, SAE, Gene Rambacher, Phi Tau and Al Lang, Pi KA in the backfield.

Honorable mention went to Bland Crowder, Sigma Pi; Bill Shearin, KA; Bob Bernhard, SAE; and John Clauer, SAE.

Swimming Returns To W&M Program

William and Mary will sponsor a men's varsity swimming team this winter, it was announced yesterday by Athletic Director R. N. (Rube) McCray. At the same time, it was stated that W. S. (Pappy) Gooch and Tom Power would serve as coaches for the aquatic sport.

A schedule has been arranged for the team, and formal practices will get under way immediately after the Christmas holidays. Swimmers will have an opportunity to get in some individual practice this week, however, and they may do some work at home during vacation.

SMOKE SIGNALS

The ouija board in the Tri-Delt House which picked Arkansas by a 7-6 score and the New York bookies giving W&M and six and one-half points notwithstanding, we get right to the point and pick William and Mary over Arkansas by one or possibly two touchdowns in the Dixie Bowl game. It will be another game of evenly matched teams, but if the Indians are playing their best, they should be able to trip the Razorbacks.

When the Braves are "up" for a game, the teams in the nation that could defeat them can be counted on the fingers, with a few left over, and Rube McCray probably will be able to have his team playing its best against Arkansas, a team much stronger than its record would imply.

It is possible but not likely that a good team can play its best brand of football against an inferior team. The showing against North Carolina and Wake Forest are examples of what can be done against a good team, while the VMI and Bowling Green results indicate what happens when that same good team runs into an obviously inferior one. The better team wins but it often does so in a sluggish, unimpressive manner which betrays its actual ability.

With Arkansas possessing a rugged line and good backs, the Indians will have their hands full on New Year's Day. Playing their best football, they can win.

In other bowl games, some interesting battles should result, too. Michigan, playing against Southern California in the Rose Bowl, will be out to run up a score comparable to the one Notre Dame made. The Trojans will be stronger, but the Wolverines should win by at least three touchdowns.

At Dallas, in the Cotton Bowl, Penn State collides with Southern Methodist, the Southwestern Conference champions in a game of runners against defensive standouts. The Nittany Lions have a pretty defensive record, but the Texas lads, who love to run, will offer a sad climax to the otherwise-undefeated season of the team from State College, Pa.

In the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, which should be tops in the nation in a few more years, Texas and Alabama tangle in a Mardi Gras of their own. Alabama got off to a slow start, but finished the season in a blaze of glory, so to speak. They won't be good enough to stop the Longhorns, however.

Georgia Tech and Kansas mix up in the Orange Bowl at Miami. Kansas, champion of the Big Six, boasts some of the best players in the country and should top the Rambling Wrecks in a hard battle.

At the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, one of the best matched games of the day will bring together Maryland and Georgia. Comparative scores do not tell the tale, so we'll stick with the Southern Conference eleven. But not by a very great margin.

TOP W&M FULLBACK Jack Cloud, who is receiving increasing acclaim as one of the top fullbacks in the nation, will start for the Indians against the University of Arkansas in the first annual Dixie Bowl game to be played in Birmingham, Ala., on Thursday, Jan. 1.

Tigers Down W&M Indians By One Point

Late Goal By Balas Gives Victory To H-S

A scrappy, fast moving five from Hampden-Sydney tripped the Indians of William and Mary, 37-36, in Petersburg last Thursday night, behind the shooting pace of Bill Balas, Tiger forward who racked up 19 points.

Chester Giermak led the Indians with 11 markers, and Co-Captains Charlie Teach and Charlie Sokol got nine apiece.

The boys from Death Valley held a five-point lead at the intermission, but the Redmen began to pile up points after a few minutes of the second half and had the lead before long. That lead changed hands several times in the closing seconds of play. It was Ballas' desperation shot in the final instant that won the game for the Tigers.

On Monday night of last week the Furman cagers took a one-point decision from the Braves under much the same conditions; both games were played on even terms, but foul shots made the difference.

Students Speak French, Spanish
At Language Tables In Cafeteria

Once a week students interested in acquiring a speaking knowledge of either French or Spanish are able to sit at foreign language tables in the large cafeteria.

According to Dr. Pierre Macy, head of the department of modern languages, "This plan has been inaugurated in order to give students practical experience in the spoken language during meal-time."

Any older students having some knowledge of either language who wish to participate may do so. The French table meets every Tuesday at 5:30 p. m., and the Spanish table on Mondays at the same time.

If enough students show sufficient interest, department members hope to extend the plan to include several tables which will have one instructor and several advanced students to supervise the other beginners.

Dr. Macy emphasized that only the foreign language will be spoken during the meal. No English may be used at all.

The modern language department is also awaiting the arrival of a voice recording machine. The student, by recording his voice at the beginning of the course and again at the end, will be given the opportunity to see how much improvement he has made during the semester. This practice will begin as soon as the machine is brought to the campus.

Fehr Invites Students

All students are invited to meet with the choral groups in front of the Wren Building at 6 p. m. on Thursday, Dec. 18, for a candlelight Christmas sing," declared Carl A. Fehr, associate professor of fine arts. Familiar Christmas carols will be sung by the gathering.

A candlelight service will be held in the chapel at 6:30 the same night. The choir will be present for carol singing.

Freshman Class
Considers Plans
At First Meeting

Bob Hendrich, president of the class of '51, presided over the first meeting of the class and presented plans for future freshman activities.

The class is to sponsor a school-wide contest for school songs and cheers. Prizes will be awarded, such as free passes to athletic activities. "We expect to have music in the cafeteria by the first of the year, or as soon as the microphone is repaired," Bob stated.

The freshman class will also sponsor a Saturday night dance and a dinner at the Lodge or the Inn for the class.

A committee has been appointed to write letters to other colleges for the purpose of gaining information on how to improve food in the cafeteria.

Moving pictures were shown at the close of the meeting.

Fraternity Association
Announces New Rule

Bill Norgren, president of the Fraternity Association, announced that a new ruling regarding the rushing of ineligible men was passed at a meeting of the Association last Wednesday.

Under the new regulation, all men on the current ineligible list will remain ineligible for rushing until the semester grade list is released by John E. Hocutt, dean of men, in February. Members of the association discussed rush week at the meeting and also accepted the rush-week budgets of the 11 fraternities.

Library Discontinues Memorial Book Shelf

In accordance with a request from the Faculty Library Committee, the library will discontinue its previous practice of reserving books on the "war memorial book shelf."

The Library Committee felt that use of these current books might be speeded up if no reserves were taken for them. "The library will continue its practice of reserving other books for students and users," library officials announced.

During the Christmas recess, the general reading room of the library will be open from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m., and from 2-5 p. m. daily. The reserve book room and the law library will be closed during the recess. The entire library will be closed on Christmas Day.

U.S. Coast Guard Will Hold Exams To Admit Cadets

The United States Coast Guard has announced the 1948 competitive examination for appointment of cadets to the Coast Guard Academy will be held Feb. 16 and 17, 1948.

This examination is open to unmarried, qualified men, military or civilian, who will have reached their 17th but not passed their 22nd birthday by July 1, 1948. Educational requirements are graduation from an accredited high school or preparatory school, the course pursued comprising a minimum of 15 units of credit earned by June, 1948. Of the 15 units needed, seven are from required subjects. The remaining eight units may be from optional subjects.

The Coast Guard Academy, located at New London, Conn., prepares men for careers as officers in the Coast Guard. Upon completion of the four-year engineering course, a cadet is eligible for a commission as ensign in the Coast Guard and a Bachelor of Science degree in engineering.

Detailed information may be obtained from John E. Hocutt, dean of men.

Scarab Society Plans Student Art Exhibition

Members of the Scarab Society will sponsor an exhibition of student art in the lobby of Phi Beta Kappa Hall, beginning on Feb. 3.

"Those entering the exhibit are urged to gather their outstanding pieces of sculpture, ceramics, wood carvings, paintings, ink sketches, engravings, and architectural or ship models over the Christmas vacation," declared Sue Earles, president of the society.

Exhibits are to be turned in to Carl Roseberg, instructor in fine arts, at his office in the Fine Arts Building by Jan. 27.

The campus-wide exhibition is limited to work done by students during the four years in college, or in the service in the case of upperclassmen, or in the last two years of high school in the case of freshmen.

The Scarab Society will sponsor a photography exhibit in the spring. Sue urged campus photographers to start collecting photos for this event.

Bot-E-Talk

Everybody's in the spirit, Christmas spirit, party spirit and spirit in general. Come the next time for His Lordship to write his column, a New Year will be here and all sorts of resolutions already broken. But first:

Hooked: with that little ole ring, Nancy Hynson and Dick Tallant. Betty Lu Brann—pinned, unpinned, repinned and now footballed, from Knox Ramsey.

Toddling about togedder: Frank Deierhol and Ann Giesen; Dotty Ellett and Dick Games.

Tip for W&M tetotalers: Beer for 20 cents at the Powhatan, miracle of the year.

It was the last chance, or German club dance: Ginny Crosby and Jim McKean; Mary Watts and Unkie McKean (brother of above); Betty Hicks and Pete DeWitt.

A plain statement of fact with no colorful misleading adjectives: The KA's had a beer party with dates at the shelter Saturday during afternoon and dinner hour.

The SAE Christmas formal featured: Pat Haggerty and Gretchen Burhen; Bill Watson and Ann Warning, Don Fields and Hunter DeMurguiondo; Sam Crosswhite and V. A. Moore; Betsy Graves and Bill Low; John Smith and Tita Cecil; Lou (Handsome man on campus) Hoitsma and Bette Hotopp.

At the PIKA same: Tom Oakley and Jean Black; Jane Spencer and Whitey Alberton; Marianne Lawrence and Harry Robinson; Bev McAnnally and Jim Brothwell; Ann Dunn and Bill Cooley; Frank Emerson and Marcy Wood; Jean Fowlkes and Bud Warwick.

And the Lambda Chi's had one, too: Bill Schwartz and Evie Carr; Mervin Wingfield with Lambda Chi's sweetheart Marcia McKenzie; Joe Buchanan and Gary Garrison; Ronnie Moore and Marilyn Searcy.

Plans for the future Sigma Rho dance: Tommy Korczowski and Barbara Campbell; Mike Mikula and Muriel Wadsworth. But how can they think about this one when repercussions are still felt from last year?

And what do you want from Santa: a successful time at West Point for Jean Struwe; Sam Helfrich, a one-way ticket to Paris. New Year's revolutions: Stop smoking, drinking, cussing — stop living.

It is with regret that Botty informs his children that a fine old character is on his way out—King, not Ronnie, has gone to his reward. A certain girl in a certain room in Barrett was reading Studs Lonigan Trilogy for a soc class. Having read the whole book, she made the learned remark, "They have a new name for women—Boards."

Never fear, you Saturday night knitters, and here's noggling at you. Come 1948, it's Leap Year. Whoopie!

the Virginia Tech game that McCray's team will be at full strength. With Tommy Korczowski back in the lineup as a break-away runner, the Indian attack will be quite well rounded and strong.

Captains End Careers

The two William and Mary captains, Ralph Sazio at tackle and Bob Steckroth at end, will lead the team to the field for the last time during their college gridiron careers against Arkansas. Other senior linemen to start their final game are both of the guards, Knox Ramsey and Bill Safko, while Stan Magdziak and Herb Poplinger are among the backs who will be making their last collegiate showings.

Other William and Mary starters include Center Tommy Thompson, Tackle Harry (Red) Caughron and Lou Hoitsma at end. In the backfield will be Jack Cloud at fullback, Henry Blanc at wingback, Tom Mikula at blocking back and Korczowski or Magdziak at tailback, depending upon whether W&M receives or kicks. Other tailbacks to see action will be Buddy Lex and Jack Bruce.

Indians Score Easy Victory Over Terrors

Playing their first home game of the 1947-48 season, the William and Mary basketball team, while missing plenty of shots, had little trouble in disposing of the Green Terrors of Western Maryland, 75-49 at Blow gym Saturday night.

Center Chester Giermak took high scoring honors for W&M with 24 points, a good part of which came by follow-up shots. Chester's hook wasn't working, but he got in under the basket enough to keep his point average above 20 per game.

Revised Lineup

Coach Barney Wilson's revised lineup, with Bob Holley starting at forward with Charlie Teach, and Charlie Sokol dropping back to guard with Fuzz McMillan, proved effective. The scoring was well distributed, Sokol getting 12 points, McMillan 10, Holley nine and Teach eight.

Walt Sibiski, forward, paced the visitors with 13 points.

W&M Grabs Lead

Running up an early lead, William and Mary was never headed. The Braves held a lead of around 15 points much of the first half, with an advantage at intermission of 34-20. That lead was gradually extended in later play, with the final victory coming by a 26 point margin.

The William and Mary players still were not very accurate on their foul shooting, making only 11 out of a large number of attempts. Western Maryland players, making only 15 field goals, picked up 19 points from the free-throw line.

Virginia Fraternity Council Imposes Drastic Curfews

(The following article is reprinted from College Topics, daily newspaper of the University of Virginia).

A series of fraternity house rules designed to go into effect on January 5, 1948, were passed by the Inter-Fraternity Council in its regular meeting Monday night.

The regulations came as a result of conferences held with representatives of the Administration, the Fraternity Alumni Advisor's Association, and the fraternity chapters themselves. As was previously reported, a set of suggestions had been sent to the fraternities by the IFC last week in an effort to determine just what concerted action could be taken. Those suggestions furnished a basis for the present code of conduct.

Acting under the statement made recently by President Colgate W. Darden that student self-government at the University should be continued and expanded, the Council passed such regulations which it believed would affectively control certain much-criticised conditions in local fraternity houses. It is the opinion of the IFC that these rules mark a definite step forward by the fraternities toward meeting the Administration on a code of conduct for the University. The resolutions are to be submitted to the Board of Visitors in their all-day meeting on Friday by President Darden.

The regulations, duly passed and entered into the minutes of the IFC on Monday, December 8, 1947, are as follows:

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL HOUSE RULES

1. Ladies may be admitted to fraternity houses between the hours of 12 noon and 10 p. m. on Monday through Thursday inclusive, and between the hours of 10 a. m. and 12 midnight on Friday, 10 a. m. and 1 a. m. on Saturday, and 10 a. m. and 12 midnight on Sunday. No ladies are to remain in fraternity houses after the designated hours unless approved chaperons are present. The Dean of Students will be requested to compile a list of approved chaperons. Ladies are to be entertained in living and recreation rooms only.

2. Fraternity houses shall be conducted in an orderly and gentlemanly manner.

3. Special rules will be made for dance week ends and special occasions by the Inter-fraternity Council.

4. Each fraternity shall be responsible for the enforcement of these rules and for the conduct of its members. The Inter-fraternity Council shall assume full jurisdiction over the enforcement of the rules as applied to fraternity houses, and over the punishment of any violations thereof.

'Tomorrow' Closes Literary Contest On December 31

Tomorrow magazine is sponsoring its second annual college writers' short story contest. The contest, which will run until Dec. 31, 1947, is open to all officially enrolled undergraduate college students in the United States. It is the purpose of the contest to uncover new writing talent.

The best short story submitted will win a $500 first prize, and the next best a $250 second prize. All manuscripts received will be considered for publication; Allan Angoff, managing editor of Tomorrow, declared it likely that a number of entries, in addition to the winners, will be suitable for publication. The magazine pays $125 and up for acceptance.

The board of judges will be composed of two teachers of writing—Professor Sidney Cox of Dartmouth, author of the treatise on writing, "Indirections," and Professor Mark Schorer of the University of California, well-known critic and author, and two editors of publishing houses, Dorothy Hillyer of Houghton Mifflin, and Ken McCormick of Doubleday & Company.

Stories for this contest should not exceed 5,000 words in length, should be typed in standard manner for submission, and should carry on both manuscript and envelope the phrase, "College Contest," and the writer's name, college, and mailing address. All entries should be accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

German Club Members Present Holiday Dance

The German Club Christmas dance, held last Saturday night in Blow Gym, was decorated on the theme of the song, "Winter Wonderland".

To carry out this idea, white and blue streamers, Christmas trees, a Merry Christmas banner across the bandstand, and snow scenes in the windows were used. The members of the German Club and their dates participated in a grand march, and German Club favors were presented. Providing music for the dance was the college band.
